On the heels of the exciting 2011 Camaro Convertible photos we posted this morning, comes word of the convertible's order & release schedule. Here is the tentative schedule:

October 2010 - December 2010

1. Dealers Submit Consensus
2. Dealer Order Submission Begins
3. Second Consensus
4. LA Autoshow Reveal (Show dates: November 19 - November 28, 2010)

January 2011 - March 2011

1. Convertible SOP (start of production)
2. Convertible pricing announcement

The most exciting part of this is the reveal of the Camaro Convertible in less than 4 months time at the LA Autoshow!

2012 CAMARO Z28 - with 6.2L supercharged V8 SPOTTED AND CONFIRMED!!!

NO MORE DOUBTING THE CAMARO Z28!!!

2012 Camaro Z28 with 6.2L supercharged V8 (6AT in this model). No confirmation yet on whether this is the LS9 or LSA motor.

This Camaro Z28 was captured out testing with several other Camaros, as well as a Mustang GT500 (for comparison of course). Seen prominently, even with the front covering is a much lower front fascia with large intakes. You can make out the shape despite the covering and it resembles the latest Transformers 3 Bumblebee Camaro front fascia. The hood cowl also looks to be more prominent than on standard Camaro.

The wheels are 20" SP550 anodized black - 20x10 front and 20x11 rears. Wrapped in Goodyear Eagle F1 tires. The brake calipers very much resemble those from the CTS-V.

Quad exhaust (dual pipes per side) are at the rear, and the photographer described the sound from this car as "nothing short of unholy!"

Best part is, GM was courteous enough to tape the engine specs on the dash: 6.2L supercharged V8, with Auto Transmission.
